Mick De Giulio

Kitchen Centric

Balcony Press; $65
Designing heart-of-the-home kitchens is De Giulio's forte, and here the kitchen guru shares his artful approach to creating functional and magical "kitchens that sing." —Amy Elbert

Chris Madden

The Soul of a House

Rizzoli New York; $45
With never-before-seen peeks at her own two "havens," Madden discusses the intangibles that imbue a house with character and provides dozens of styling tips (out in November).

Mary McDonald

Mary McDonald Interiors

Rizzoli New York; $55
The first book from the fashion-forward former milliner offers insight into her design philosophy of infusing spaces with drama, elegance, and plenty of customization.

Suzanne Rheinstein

At Home

Rizzoli New York; $55
Passion for the past led Rheinstein to open her own antiques shop. Now, one-of-a-kind pieces and six homes that feature them (including two of her own) are included in this tome, out in November.

Victoria Hagan

Victoria Hagan Interior Portraits

Rizzoli New York; $50
Author Marianne Hagan reveals her sister's inspirations and the hallmarks of her style in this part biography, part photo essay that spans 20 years of Victoria's work.
